The Tree of Life: A Biblical Study of Immortality & New Creation Paul Sellman

Is what we believe really what the Bible teaches, or have we gone off track?

In this study, Paul Sellman surveys the Bible to see what is said about our mortality, heaven and hell, and our everlasting future. Incorporating both the Old and New Testaments, vital ideas are brought to the forefront, such as the Day of the Lord, Resurrection and the truth about immortality. Beginning with Genesis and ending with Revelation, you'll find that many of the things we teach and sing about have little grounding in Scripture. This study will challenge you to re-examine much of what you've taken for granted and ask some tough questions that normally don't get asked, such as: How come the Old Testament doesn't anything about going to heaven?

What does the Bible say about an immortal soul?

If we die and go to heaven, what does it mean to be asleep in Christ? The answers to these and other questions will be most thought-provoking.
